McK CSD hopefuls emerge

Jack Durham
MAD RIVER UNION

MCKINLEYVILLE – Two candidates have entered the race for three open seats on the McKinleyville Community Services District Board of Directors.

Greg Orsini   Scott Binder

Former district manager Greg Orsini and frequent online information poster Scott Binder have both announced their candidacies.

There are two four-year seats, now held by John Corbett and Mary Burke, and one two-year seat, now held by Shel Barsanti. Both Corbett and Burke, who hold four-year seats, have announced they are not seeking re-election. Shel Barsanti, who was appointed to fill a seat vacated by the late George Wheeler, holds a two-year seat. She couldn't be reached for comment.

The deadline for signing up to be a candidate would have been Friday, Aug. 7, but with incumbents not seeking re-election, the deadline will be extended to Wednesday, Aug. 12.

The only requirement to be a candidate is that you have to be a registered voter living within the district.

Nurse's 'confessions' spark county probe

Daniel Mintz
MAD RIVER UNION

HUMBOLDT – The county's Department of Health and Human Services is "investigating" how sensitive information on local COVID-19 cases and contract tracing operations was revealed to an international news outlet by a public health nurse.

A July 30 Bloomberg column written by Michael Lewis includes details about incidences of COVID-19 spread, including the outbreak at Eureka's Alder Bay Assisted Living facility which led to four deaths there.

Titled "Confessions of a California Covid Nurse," the column profiles and includes in-depth comments from county Public Health Nurse Erica Dykehouse, who is identified as "one of the county's two infectious disease nurses."

The column focuses on Dykehouse's experiences as one of the county's lead contract tracing investigators.

Filled with striking and potentially employment-affecting content attributed to Dykehouse, the column describes an infected "meth dealer" who agreed to self-isolate but "Erica suspected he was still sneaking out at night, and her suspicion was confirmed when he infected a buddy of his, who in turn infected his daughter-in-law."

According to the column, the asymptomatic daughter-in-law then "went to her job at Alder Bay Assisted Living, a nursing home in Eureka. More than a dozen staff members and residents became infected. Four died."

HUMBOLDT – "They are managing and they are proud," Carrie Peyton-Dahlberg said, "but a little extra help would be huge."

Peyton-Dahlberg knew that residents at mobile home parks in the Trinidad area would benefit from food deliveries and other help with errands because of her volunteer efforts during the 2016 mobile home rent control issue. Some of the residents are elderly and many are sheltering in place.

"People assume that there isn't a need here," she said, "but there is." The idea and initial funding came from her and blossomed with volunteer help.

"I knew that there were offers already out there," she explained. "I offered to do a needs survey. I didn't have to leave my house; I just got on the phone."

With that done, and the help of Cooperation Humboldt and the Trinidad Civic Club, volunteers Brett Shuler and Tim Haywood swung into action.

Shuler, a local caterer and musician who is active in the Trinidad Chamber of Commerce, cooks up 18 hot meals every Friday in the Civic Club's commercial kitchen in Trinidad Town Hall. The club is donating the space, rent-free and Shuler is donating his time.

Meals are nutritious and fresh, such as chicken enchiladas, rice, and beans.

Murder suspects from afar arrested in Arcata

HSU POLICE DEPT.
ARCATA – On Wednesday, July 29, at 1:03 a.m., University Police Department Sergeant Joe Jones and Officer Billy Kijisriopas were on patrol at the University Corporation Yard, a satellite campus off of Samoa Boulevard in Arcata. They discovered an unoccupied vehicle with stolen plates parked on the east side of the building.

As they approached on foot, they located three people sleeping near the vehicle on the exterior of the building on a stairwell.

All three were identified, and two returned with felony warrants out of Henry County, Virginia, for homicide. UPD arrested Daniel Fish and Ashleigh Nicole McCallister, the two murder suspects, without incident and took the vehicle for evidence.

One unsuspecting traveler, who had no connection with the murder suspects, was interviewed with the murder suspects, was interviewed and released on scene. This is still an active investigation and UPD is in direct contact and coordination with the Henry County Sheriff's Office.

Arcata Police Department was instrumental in their immediate support and response, not only on scene but with coordination alongside UPD dispatch in providing quick data response, which ultimately gave officers vital information on the suspects.

"Our officers come to work every day with the singular purpose of keeping our campus and community safe," says Christina Loft-house, interim UPD chief. "These arrests highlight the great job both UPD and Arcata PD do in serving our community. My hope is that these arrests will give the family of the victim some peace and allow the healing process to begin."

community is treated with respect.

"My desire is to help our community find common ground as we address the many social and economic issues we are facing and move forward in a thoughtful, positive and equitable direction for our community," states Atkins-Salazar.

As the candidate campaigns throughout the district she looks forward to hearing from the voters and gaining a better understanding of their concerns and possible solutions to local issues. "If elected, I will use my education, business experience and my leadership style which focuses on listening and problem solving, to help bring our community together to find common ground and solve the issues we are facing."

Atkins-Salazar is excited to have her campaign team composed of all women, from multiple generations and a variety of backgrounds. This dynamic team of women includes a former lawyer, a recent college graduate with a MA in Economics, a former school teacher, local business owners, and a recent high school graduate. According to Atkins-Salazar "Being supported by such a diverse and talented team of women is truly inspiring."

brownies," Shuler said, smiling.

Then Tim Haywood, "masked and gloved," delivers the meals to residents of local mobile parks, a couple up on Stumptown Road, and to folks living in their vehicles. He's checking on their well-being at the same time.

"They tell me how they've been," he said.

Haywood, who lives in Trinidad, is also a stewardship assistant for the Trinidad Land Trust. He credits Cooperation Humboldt for their support at the beginning.

"I became team captain for Trinidad and am now the only active volunteer," he said.

Oscar Mogollon of Cooperation Humboldt praised the efforts of Haywood and Shuler. "It's really great that the community is just filled with these type of people," he said.

is a group of community organizations and local institutions. They formed the Humboldt COVID-19 Community Response Coalition in March and have been facilitating food and supply efforts since. (Mad River Union June 24, 2020, p. 4)

"We just connected the dots and made sure they had enough support," Mogollon said. "We've provided food and masks to them."

More support and donations are always welcome. Currently Shuler and Haywood have a GoFund Me page for donations for food costs.: gofundme.com/f/trinidad-hot-meal-fund.

Peyton-Dahlberg would like to see a similar needs survey done of every mobile home park in the county. But she's proud of the efforts in Trinidad. "The people who do the real work are the people who are meeting the needs," she added.

Thanks, Brett and Tim, for making it happen.

Quirky Benji for all your small-dog needs

Week 20 of shelter in place: more activity in and around the shelter, including some new dogs up for adoption.

There has been a lot of interest in small dogs lately, due to an apparent shortage of same.

If you are one of those waiting on a small dog, I recommend keeping an eye on the shelter's PetHarbor page (petharbor.com), where you can register your interest and receive notification if a small dog comes available.

Last Friday an 8-year-old MinPin went up for adoption first thing in the morning and was adopted by lunchtime!

I'm more of a big dog person myself (though we do have a little in our home pack) and I'm happy to report there are some lovely bigger dogs currently available for adoption.

One of our new larger dogs is the lovely Benji, a 3-year-old male Lab mix. His coat is a deep dark color somewhere between brown and black which gives him a unique appearance.

We are quickly developing quite an appreciation for this fellow. He is great with other dogs and has even won over some of the pickier ones who all want the chance to be with him.

His gentle behavior when introduced to cats leads us to believe he would be happy to live with felines. He's a bit of a blank slate when it comes to previous training but has been very agreeable to learning.

The volunteers who have walked him have consistently commented on how easy he is to walk, especially for a large young dog.

He also has a silly side and will make you laugh with his funny expressions as he tries to lean in for some petting!

We would recommend Benji for adults or families that looking for an active, gentle companion.

We believe that he would be fine in a home with other pets.

Benji is neutered, micro-chipped and current on his vaccinations. He is available through the Humboldt County Animal Shelter located in McKinleyville.

The shelter is still open to the public by appointment only, Monday through Friday. You can make an appointment by calling (707) 840-9132.

All about serving on the McKinleyville Community Services District

Now is the right time to talk about who we want to elect into a leadership role in McKinleyville. There are two four-year seats and one two-year seat up for election at McKinleyville Community Services District (MCSD) and the opportunity to put your name in the hat is here now and until Aug. 12.

A position on the board is incredibly enriching and engaging. As a board member you will learn the full scope of services MCSD provides as well as what opportunities there are for people willing to play a leadership role in our community.

This is MCSD's 50th year anniversary and we can celebrate MCSD's excellent staff, new fantastic general manager, and a forward-looking set of board policies and capital improvement projects. Our Community Services District has a host of exciting projects that we are working on: our strategic plan prioritizes emergency preparedness and we have a new water storage tank project underway; we are working towards being able to add a community forest to our open space inventory; we are underway with designs for a micro-grid project; we are actively replacing aging infrastructure; and are supportive of the development of a long-awaited skatepark.

As an MCSD director your role is to work as a part of a 5-person board to establish policy and work with the general manager to provide direction for the District's future. In addition, board members are the voice of our community for a number of committees and liaison positions.

If you wish to know more about how your MCSD directors perform in our community, read what has been reported about their service on the MCSD board and in their Active Committee appointment positions:

- Recreation Advisory Committee – Couch; alternate Mayo
- McKinleyville Area Fund – Barsanti
- Redwood Region Economic Development Commission – Mayo, alternate Burke
- McKinleyville Senior Center – Barsanti; alternate Burke
- McKinleyville Municipal Advisory Committee – Burke; alternate Mayo

• Humboldt Local Agency Formation Commission – Couch

Given our recent investment in a new wastewater treatment plant and active replacement of infrastructure, I propose that our community will greatly benefit from the service of people who have the skills and experience to help advance a vision of stewardship for MCSD's public lands that are a part of the broader network of McKinleyville's open spaces.

We need people who understand the importance of the protection of our water and other natural resources to provide for a healthy community and environment.

In addition to the services provided in our community, MCSD has a voice at the state and federal legislative level. During and prior to my tenure, directors and our general manager have tracked and worked on legislative matters that affect Special Districts such as ours and that address the way water in north coast rivers is viewed by the state legislature.

GUEST OPINION
Mary Burke

MCSD's recently retired General Manager Greg Orsini was board Chair of the California Special Districts Association (CSDA) which lobbies at the state level using input from special district board members and general managers across the state. Recently, the first legislation to recognize special districts at the federal level was brought before Congress for funding special districts in the CARES Act.

MCSD's presence at the state level brings attention to small rural water agencies' role and makes our voice heard. Directors have the opportunity to sit on committees that affect legislative activities such as within the CSDA and at the Association of California Water Agencies (ACWA). At ACWA, MCSD directors can "sit around the table" with the largest of water agencies in our state, such as Westlands Water District – to speak up for protecting our North Coast water resources.

Whether the board is addressing a local issue or statewide issue, our community needs diverse and skilled representation. In November, please vote for people who have earned your respect and who you trust to represent your community.

Skills and qualifications are important, but often fall short if not accompanied by being willing and able to work well as a member of the board, to put aside ideology, and make decisions about how best to provide essential services to everyone in our community into the future.

Three newly elected board members will join Directors Couch and Mayo in 2021. The following election will see three more seats up for election – this is due to the cycle of filling the late Director Wheeler's seat by appointment just over one year ago. Director Corbett has signaled the end of 20 years of service on MCSD's board and I have made the difficult decision not to run for re-election.

I close this appeal to my community for their participation in local governance with a thank you to all of you for your communications and support from the start of my campaign and throughout my term.

DTF renews long-lost acquaintanceship, makes new one, seizes major moolah & 5 lbs. o' smack

HUMBOLDT COUNTY DRUG TASK FORCE
ARCATA – On Wednesday, July 29, special agents with the Humboldt County Drug Task Force (HCDTF), with the assistance of the Arcata Police Department, served a search warrant at a residence located in the 500 block of Warren Creek Road, Arcata.

During their ongoing investigation, agents identified Jack Ryan Skundrich, 34, as a suspected narcotics trafficker distributing heroin throughout Humboldt County.

Agents were familiar with Skundrich from previous investigations. In January 2019, agents arrested Skundrich for transporting heroin with a juvenile. Skundrich was charged with felony child endangerment, to which he failed to appear in court, and a felony warrant was issued.

Again, in January 2019, agents served a search warrant at Skundrich's residence and seized approximately six pounds of suspected heroin. Skundrich's acquaintance was arrested during this investigation.

At approximately 4:45 p.m., agents arrived at the residence and detained Skundrich, along with his acquaintance, Juan Sabino Alvarez (36, from Sinaloa, Mexico). During a search of the residence and associated vehicles, agents located approximately five pounds of suspected heroin packaged for sales.

Agents also located over $5,000 in U.S. currency that is believed to be profits from illegal narcotics sales. This currency was seized and will be held pending asset forfeiture proceedings.

Skundrich and Alvarez were subsequently placed under arrest for possession and transportation of controlled substances. Skundrich was also charged for operating/maintaining a drug house and a felony warrant for child endangerment. Both subjects were booked into the Humboldt County Correctional Facility.

Anyone with information related to this investigation or other narcotics related crimes are encouraged to call the Humboldt County Drug Task Force at (707) 267-9976 or the Humboldt County Sheriff's Office Tip Line at (707) 268-2539.

MCSD | 'Everyone should have a voice'

Board members are paid $150 per regular board meeting, which are typically held once a month.

Familiar on Facebook
Binder is probably best known for posting meeting agendas and other announcements on social media, including the McKinleyville Community Watch page.

"An ongoing goal for me is the continuance of keeping the public informed as to what government is doing on their behalf," Binder said.

He said this was sparked, in part, by the controversy in 2016 over the county's plans to build a social services hub, called The Center at McKinleyville, on Heartwood Drive.

"It became apparent to me that the public at large is unaware and uninformed as to projects such as this. Since then, I've taken it upon myself to inform the public of board agendas, projects, and other details that would affect McKinleyville," Binder said. "I read virtually every board packet and meeting minutes, research details that I need to clarify, and am able to present and answer questions for interested group members."

Binder describes himself as

"semi-retired after 23 years of working in the wholesale food distribution industry but plan on re-entering the workforce when the right opportunity presents itself."

Binder is the vice chair the MCSD's Recreation Advisory Committee and frequently attends both MCSD and McKinleyville Municipal Advisory Committee meetings.

"I've been encouraged to run for the MCSD board in previous election cycles; in this phase of my life I now believe that I can give the position the diligence and attention that it deserves," Binder said.

Binder said he is seeking the two-year seat and was scheduled to officially sign up as a candidate Monday, Aug. 3.

Former manager
Orsini retired July 17 after working for the district for 30 years. He started at the lowest rung, digging ditches and moving irrigation pipe, and eventually worked his way up to being the manager.

"I want to give back to the community," said Orsini, who is seeking a four-year seat on the board.

Orsini announced his candidacy at the July 29 meeting of the McKinleyville Municipal Advisory Committee, which he served on as the MCSD manager.

Orsini is a unique candidate, in that he knows the nuts and bolts of the district, both literally and figuratively.

Orsini would like to lend his expertise to a $3.4 million sewer pipe upgrade project. He said there are different ways the project can be constructed, with possibilities having district staff do some of the work, and contracting out other parts.

Another project Orsini would like to see come to fruition is the proposed community forest on land now owned by Green Diamond on the east side of town.

"The community forest is one of those projects I'm really looking forward to moving forward with," said Orsini, who was working to secure funding for the project before he retired.

The former manager said another important thing for the board is to make sure everyone gets to provide input.

"Everyone in McKinleyville should have a voice," Orsini said. "The more ideas that are brought to the table for consideration, the better the results will be."

Election Day is Nov. 3.

CARES funds available

COUNTY OF HUMBOLDT
HUMBOLDT – The Humboldt County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday, July 28, approved a $3,288,650 allocation of the County's CARES Act funding for the County of Humboldt's Small Business Restart & Recovery Grant Program.

This program will provide direct aid to the business community in the form of micro-grants made to small and locally owned and operated businesses who have suffered a financial hardship as a result of COVID-19.

Grant recipients must be a for-profit Humboldt County business whose business was or has closed, or whose operations were or are adversely impacted as a result of COVID-19 (or as a result of complying Public Health orders) and which now has an approved reopening plan.

For questions, please contact the County of Humboldt Economic Development team via email at go-humco@co.humboldt.ca.us or at (707) 445-7745.

Nurse | Bloomberg exposé roils county Public Health

Another account describes how a "possibly contagious" elderly couple responded to Dykehouse's attempts to get them to self-quarantine.

"She'd found them, told them to quarantine, and they had turned right around and hosted a big Fourth of July BBQ," Lewis writes. "When she tried to contact guests who might have been infected, she found them either dismissive or outright rude."

The context of those accounts is a portrayal of county contact tracing as being hamstrung by lack of cooperation, lags between testing and results, and an increasingly cavalier local attitude about COVID-19.

Stating that "by late June, Erica and her colleagues sensed that everything was moving in the wrong direction," the column quotes "one of the county health officers" as saying, "We feel like we're losing control of the situation. People are getting it and we don't know where."

Local news outlets, including the North Coast Journal, Lost Coast Outpost and Times-Standard, quickly reported on the column's alarming claims.

The column is a problem for both the county and Dykehouse. Although the Public Health Branch has occasionally disclosed specific information about COVID-19 cases, the scope has been limited to what was necessary to inform and guard public safety.

Otherwise, county officials have repeatedly declined to answer questions about specific outbreaks and rumors of them, citing the responsibility to maintain confidentiality and protect patients.

If the content of the Bloomberg column leads to public perception of lack of confidentiality, it could also undercut the county's contract tracing efforts.

The column's fallout was growing as Dr. Teresa Frankovich, the county's public health officer, prepared for the July 31 edition of the county's ongoing "media availability" video series, which fields submitted news media questions.

But there would be no discussion of the column's attention-getting contents. The video began with a written explanation why.

"We've received a number of questions about the Bloomberg article," began a message from Department of Health and Human Services Director Connie Beck. "In response to those I'd like to say that the Department of Health and Human Services takes confidentiality seriously and is investigating. Information about personnel matters is and will remain confidential."

Variations of that message had been emailed to news outlets.

When the Journal contacted county Public Information Officer Heather Muller seeking response to the column, she was quoted as saying in an email that the county won't offer confirmation or denial because "some pieces of information were shared with the (Bloomberg) reporter that could compromise the privacy of those involved."

Muller added that Dykehouse's account "does not necessarily reflect the broader experience of Public Health employees or the status of the ongoing operation."

Frankovich elaborated on that in the video when she responded to a submitted media question on "the level of cooperation you're getting and the effectiveness of the county's contact tracing efforts."

"I think our county's contact tracing efforts have been amazing, frankly," she said. "I am in constant awe of our team ... they are working incredibly hard to identify all the contacts of cases and to really get to people quickly."

On the level of cooperation with investigators, Frankovich said that "in general, most of the people that we are working with are actually very cooperative."

She added that although "there are always going to be some people that are difficult to convince about the importance of this and to get the information that we need," the "vast majority" of the people contacted have been "great."

That's at odds with the column's descriptions of Dykehouse's experiences. As shelter in place restrictions began to be lifted, a "discomfiting change" in people's attitudes was noticed.

"People stopped returning her calls. People hung up on her," Lewis writes. "People even lashed out at her."

"It's the first time in this job I'm experiencing people hanging up on me – except with STDs," Dykehouse is quoted as saying. "Most of the time you call and say, 'I'm a nurse from Public Health' and they talk to you or call you back. We're used to people trusting us. Now they don't. That's been very weird."

Detailed information about Measure R, the fire tax, and more to come

You ain't seen nothin' yet

The COVID crisis caught us, as a society, off guard and unprepared on so many levels. It is a wake-up call and a devastating reminder that we cannot always bend nature to our will. But maybe we can make use of this painful catastrophe to motivate us to attend to the next massive and deadly natural disaster barreling full speed toward us – climate change.

There is no potential vaccine that can rescue us from climate change. But we can insist that taxpayer funded stimulus recovery programs be directed at building a green economy which will create good jobs and an equitable and safer community and planet for us all. This is urgent, and it is possible. Let's use the lessons of this crisis to try to mitigate the brewing crisis of climate change. Demand a green recovery from all levels of government. Contact your representatives and let them know you support a green recovery.

Fifth AFD bond?

Measure F would be yet another bond on our houses. When I read the arguments for and against, I have questions. I am genuinely confused.

All insurance goes up every year. Why is AFD's insurance going up substantially higher (29 percent per one article) than the average of 10 percent to 15 percent? Do they not shop around? Can they adjust their deductibles? Do the employees pay for any of their health, vision and dental care? Or is it all on the taxpayer funds? Per their own line item accounting of just over two years ago (as found at arcatafire.org/budgets-audits) it seems that it is.

In this same budget, it appears that their payments of Social Security tax and Medicare tax are also covered by the taxpayer – these are normally deducted out of a person's paycheck in every job I have ever known. Correct me if I read it wrong.

I would also like to know if any of these individuals contribute to their own PERS (retirement fund)? Looking at the numbers on the AFD website I am highly suspicious, but perhaps that is what was guaranteed when hired, without thought to who's paying.

Please do not get me wrong, I am truly grateful we have a fire department. I am just confused as to having already four bonds for AFD on my house. Confused as to where the proceeds from the sale of the AFD property at 11th and L streets went. Confused as to where the proceeds of the Foster Avenue property sale to Open Door Clinic for $850,000. I just don't understand.

Included in the budget is a substantial amount for unfunded CalPERS (retirement) liability ($360,244) which is pretty close to current CalPERS (retirement) responsibility ($397,775) Now honestly, how does that happen? I just don't understand this. Seems to me it would be prudent to switch to 401k.

I noticed that retirees' health insurance is being paid (over $251,000) to current employees amounting to $462,713 – now this is two years ago, so I am sure it's gone up - as everything does. When does it stop?

Now I don't work for any government agency, so I don't know what's reasonable and customary when I see a bunch of expenses on the AFD line item budgets that just don't make a lot of sense to me. I just don't understand some of them.

In one article it is mentioned there are 3,300 calls a year - does their district have 9.085 fires a day? Jack, in an opinion in the Mad River Union, stated "close to 4000" - which would bring the total to 10.9589 a day. I am perplexed at this stat. Jack also stated our fire insurance would go up. Well, whether we file a claim or not, our insurance goes up each year.

It was stated on NextDoor, AFD relies only on our bonds. Well, yet again, I look at AFD line item accounting of 2018 and that is not so. They have many avenues of revenue, more than I thought possible. It's all there in black and white. arcatafire.org/budgets-audits. So, again, I am confused

At this time there are approximately $400 of bonds on our properties. Property taxes and homeowners insurance go up every year – along with everything else.

If it wasn't for Prop 13, my mother, along with hundreds of thousands of others in California, would have lost their homes long ago. The City of Arcata has a bond "Open Space" for basic city services coming up on the ballot. This bond adding has got to have a limit.

With this COVID pandemic and virtually complete shutdown happening, very bad timing. In addition to local water rates rising (for the privilege of having the service, as well as the use thereof), high unemployment, loss of tax revenues. The students for the most part are gone which caused sales tax revenue to plummet. Shops are treading water or permanently closing.

I am not sure I see the justification of another expense or a fifth AFD bond. I see the huge professionally printed signs hanging on the fire department's door stating closed for lack of funding – those things cost $3,000 to $5,000 – prudent use of funds? So many questions.

Arcata is cutting city services across the board, including our police of close to $750,000 – without complaint. I find it hard to wrap my head around yet another bond at this time. I am not sure I see the justification of another expense or a fifth AFD bond

D. Ziegler
Arcata

NO CHARGE As we await any responses Arcata Fire may offer to the questions posed in the above letter, the alleged four-figure sign seemed like low-hanging fruit, so we asked about it. Fire Chief Justin McDonald says the sign was donated at no cost to the fire department by Noah Samson of Visual Concepts. Also, AFD is not seeking a bond, just a tax.

Transparency and diligence

I have been involved with the Arcata Fire District (AFD) and the Arcata Volunteer Firefighters' Association (AVFA) for about three years. I have only lived in Humboldt County and with-in this fire district since 1992, 28 years (so not a local). We have not ever been very politically active but have met a few local politicians and various boardmembers across the county.

We have watched the local communities try to address various issues by thinking globally and acting locally. We have observed this community always pushing for openness and inclusion. If there is one thing any public entity in this community knows they must try to be transparent.

But if you as an individual want to see and understand how your tax dollars are being spent or how you are being served by an organization or group you are funding or contributing to, you have to try. You have to make an effort, make a phone call, send an email, log into a web page, walk in the door and ask a question. You could ask a neighbor, read a letter to the editor, or listen to a local commentator.

They may have all the information. They may have all the details. They may have done the research necessary to fully understand why something is happening or how something is accomplished. They may fully understand what has changed in a service being provided and why. Or they have merely read a letter to the editor or was just repeating what they heard.

To support the AFD after the failure of Measure R in March I volunteered to help out with communications of the planned November measure to again ask the voters for adequate funding to support the district. "Friends of Measure F" was formed by community members to try to get information throughout their District about the needs of our emergency response organization. To communicate how your District is funded and the level of funding needed to adequately and safely support the 62 square miles and 37,000 residents.

Some voters speculate about the real need for three stations, about the over response to service calls, the high salaries received by firefighters and the lack of transparency of the Fire District.

Have you talked to the boardmembers, the Fire Chief, or looked on their web page for the budget and expenditures? Did you attend one of the six community information meetings held before the vote in March? Have you really tried to see who, what and why they are?

Please do the research, get the information needed to help you understand why your fire district needs your support in November on Measure F.

AFD running on fumes

Did you know that our Arcata Fire District has not had a fire tax raise in this Century!?! (1997 was the last one). In fact that makes almost a quarter of a century that they have not had a raise.

It's amazing to me that they were able to successfully keep all three stations open for that long – until the rotating brown outs of one station being closed each day beginning this spring because of the lack of funds.

Facts to consider when you vote: Two of AFD's very important trucks are close to or over 20 years old. The Water Tender 22 years and the Ladder Truck 19 going on 20.

Twenty years old. How many of us keep our own vehicles for 20-plus years? Many of the rest are about 13-plus years old. And to top it off, most of the AFD vehicles, trucks and engines, have 100,000 miles or more.

The cost to keep these very specialized vehicles in working order is incredible. Just one front tire for the big ladder truck and other trucks and engines is $800. Just one tire. Changing the oil is about $1,000 per vehicle.

A full annual maintenance service with oil change and other necessary fluids, filters etc for our most magnificent ladder truck is $7,000. For six of our others it is $3,500 PER truck. Multiply $3,500 by six plus the $7,000 for the ladder truck = $28,000 just for maintenance alone per year.

You can see why we need to get Measure F passed. The older trucks will not last forever. Patching them together when they fail can only last so long, and we want our fire engines and trucks to be safe and efficient for our well being. Besides keeping three stations open, we need to have some money set aside to purchase new rigs when needed.

We do not want to have to buy on credit and pay interest on a million-dollar truck. That's a waste of tax payers' dollars, a bad business practice and should be avoided.

Please join me in voting yes on Measure F. If you voted yes the last time, please vote yes again. If you voted no, or did not choose one way or the other, please consider the risk factors of not having the medical and fire services that we need, when we need them, in time to save your life and your family's or my family's and mine.

Thank you.

WILPF thanks

Earlier this year, the Humboldt Branch of WILPF, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, awarded several Edillith Eckart Memorial Peace Grants to organizations in Humboldt County working to achieve peace and social justice.

Edilith Eckart was one of our founding members and a lifelong advocate for peace. We hope our grants help to continue her work making connections between people across boundaries and searching for ways to solve conflicts.

Recipients included the local branch of the GI Rights Hotline which provides telephone counseling to prospective inductees, active duty service members, veterans and families. They will be using their funds to purchase a new computer.

Also included is the Humboldt County Branch of Black Music and Arts Association which provides opportunities for classes and events supporting the traditions of African peoples. The Kunle Community provides a warm telephone line to the local community, and will use their grant to support their annual International Day of Peace celebration. KMUD Community Radio provides news, discussion and entertainment via their public radio station.

They will use their grant to purchase equipment for their Youth Journalism Project training local youth in technology and journalism.

The Joyful Healer Church will use their grant to support their services to the homeless population in McKinleyville by providing training to volunteers, hire a paid staff person, and collaborate with similar organizations in the area.

Humboldt WILPF is grateful that we have so many local organizations working in these areas of service to the community.

We are also grateful for the many donations we have received from individuals and businesses in the community which have helped make our fundraising events successful.

Trash-A-Thon kudos

Kudos to the folks at the Northcoast Environmental Center (NEC) who recently held a "Trash-A-Thon" with volunteers collecting pledges to pick up trash cluttering our parks, beaches, and city streets.

They raised more than $4,000 for the NEC by picking up stuff like plastic bags and cups, used 4th of July fireworks, and even thousands of cigarette butts.

It's the most basic environmental value to pick up after yourself, but a lot of us are still working on it.

As far as protecting the environment goes I'm glad the NEC still has our backs. And way too many of our butts.

Louie, Louie, oh baby, now you gotta go

Lunatic fringe fascist fool Louie Gohmert (R-Texas) is without a doubt the dumbest, most worthless member of Congress, and considering the laughably low intelligence level of the average lazy Republican racist officeholder these days, that's really saying something! Rep. Gohmert is an imbecile and a sick scumbag, not to mention corrupt.

Lamebrain Louie Gohmert needs to resign from office immediately and begin preparing his legal defense against the multiple lawsuits headed his way for Gohmert maliciously forcing his staff members (by forbidding them from wearing masks or from working at home) and his colleagues (by Gohmert refusing to wear a mask while at work) to become infected with Gohmert's COVID-19 disease, all because whiny little clueless conservative crybaby Gohmert the goofball has apparently been taking his medical advice from traitor Trump's White House witch doctor named Dr. Demon Seed.

Resign, Louie Gohmert – you're an idiot! And if dishonorable dimwit Louie the loser isn't man enough to resign, just vote the Moscow-loving moron out of office on Nov. 3 right along with Gohmert's god Donald Trump otherwise better known as Vladimir Putin's puppet.

Send sick psycho Louie Gohmert and his partner in crime demonic Donald Trump to Russia where those anti-American big-ots belong.

Sincerely,
Jake Pickering

Political signs taken, torn in Bayside

Our little corner of the world became embroiled in controversy this week. The low chain-link fence at the corner of Old Arcata Road and Jacoby Creek Road has long been a sort of large-scale community bulletin board, announcing events, honoring graduates, recruiting for little league, and pointing the way to yard sales and open houses.

In early July, a Black Lives Matter banner was posted on the fence. It was later joined by other signs, one promoting peace, strength and resilience, and another advocating Defund Police – Abolish Prison – Respect Earth – Honor People (I may not have the actions on those last two exactly right, but the sentiments are).

These all co-existed, along with a congratulations to NPA graduates, announcement of the Bayside Hall brunch, and other messages, until July 29, when the Black Lives Matter sign was torn in half and the Defund-Abolish-Respect-Honor sign disappeared completely.

This started an unusually active chain of comments on the NextDoor site that exposes vast differences within our community on how we perceive ourselves and others: what is social justice, what is protected speech, what is inclusive vs what is divisive. These are the same conversations that are happening all across the country, writ small in our own community.

❖ BAYSIDE CORNERS
Carolyn Jones

Actions can speak louder than words. Somehow, tearing that sign in half and leaving part of it sends a message that is so much more uncomfortable, (dare I say violent?) than simply removing it. Whether you agree with the original proposition or not, the response is very discomfiting.

So, let’s look at a more positive instance of actions in promotion of a cause. Along Old Arcata Road, on the right hand side as you head to Bayside Corners, just past Anderson Lane, is a private home with a remarkable offering in the front yard.

The sign reads “Solidarity – Not Charity” and is accompanied by a large stand offering fresh farm produce, plant starts, and other items for whoever needs them.

VANDALIZED A political statement?

It is provided by the Farmer/Gardener Collective of Humboldt Mutual Aid which holds a free farm stand on Mondays, noon to 4 p.m., near the corner of 12th and M streets in Arcata.

Members of the collective are on hand at that time to answer questions about gardening, growing your own food, and so on.

The leftovers from the farm stand, and other items that individuals want to contribute, are taken to the Old Arcata Road location where they are available to anyone. Free. Just because.

Tidepool Exploration

Trinidad Coastal Land Trust will present a morning of Tidepool Exploration on Saturday, Aug. 22 from 8 to 10 a.m. at Baker Beach on Scenic Drive.

Join naturalists to learn about the wonders of the Trinidad coast’s intertidal zone and explore colorful and diverse tidepools.

The exploration will focus on how the creatures exposed at a minus tide survive and thrive.

Meet at the Scenic Drive parking area for Baker Beach, about one and one-half miles south of Trinidad. The trail is steep with a moderately challenging terrain.

There are slippery rocks. Come prepared with shoes that can get wet. The event will be COVID-19 safety compliant, with face coverings and six-feet of physical distance.

Reservations are required. Email michelle@trinidadcoastallandtrust.org or call (707) 677-2501 to make sure you have a place as these programs are popular.

Last month’s Intertidal Exploration caused some excitement when two participants spotted an ambiguous, translucent, gelatinous creature in a small pool and exclaimed that they had found a jellyfish.

However, upon further inspection, the group realized it was a three-inch long sea slug covered with long bushy cerata (tentacles) and tiny orange, black and white sprinkles; a nudibranch.

Further research revealed that it is called a Giant Rainbow nudibranch, or Dendro-notus iris, and that they live in the subtidal zone which is the area just below the lowest tide.

The nudibranch must have been washed ashore at the high tide. The nudibranch’s primary diet consists of subtidal anemones.

The creature bites off entire tentacles or grazes with their radula (slug teeth equivalent).

Also sighted were a gumboot chiton, a San Diego dorid nudibranch, many aggregating anemone colonies, and young kelp crabs according to Michelle Kunst and the TCLT website at trinidadcoastallandtrust.org.

If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code.
